

Working Families Grant

Inspired to serve

Inspired to better serve students, Marian University and the Congregation of Sisters of St. Agnes (CSA) co-sponsored the Education Grant for Women and Children in 1996, following Wisconsin's inception of the "Work not Welfare" program.

In 2002, the Working Families Grant (WFG) program was created through a unique collaboration with an anonymous donor to expand CSA's mission and develop one of the nation's most comprehensive educational programs available to low income single parents.

Inspired to learn

Inspired to further one's education, the Working Families Grant program works to advance the University's mission, core values and legacy of service by awarding tuition and stipend grants to economically disadvantaged single parents with dependent children — parents who possess the desire and determination to achieve a four-year undergraduate degree.

Participants are eligible for the Working Families Grant program if they are a single (or divorced or widowed) custodial parent with primary or physical placement of one or more dependent children; meet low income financial need criteria using Office of Financial Aid guidelines; and are freshmen, transfer, returning or current student attempting their first undergraduate degree.

Participants are expected to:

- Enroll as a full-time student in the traditional day program on the Fond du Lac campus.
- Meet with a financial aid counselor to establish federal, state, loan and grant assistance.
- Complete an online career assessment and meet with a career counselor for interpretation of results.
- Complete 12–15 credits per semester, 32 credits annually, which includes a winter session (3 cr.) and summer sessions (6 cr. max), to ensure graduation in four years.
- Meet with an academic advisor to establish target graduation date and maintain four-year plan accordingly.
- Maintain a 2.5 GPA or higher if required by major.
- Perform 20 hours of community service each semester and 40 hours annually.
- Meet with a personal counselor twice each semester on campus and one home visit per year.
- Meet each month with program director.

Inspired by possibility

Through the Working Families Grant program, participants create new social and economic opportunities for their future through a "partnership" philosophy that embraces academic advising and support services, career assessment and development resources, community service/volunteerism experiences, counseling, financial aid assistance, freedom of spiritual exploration, life skills development and mentoring.

Benefits of the program include:

- Tuition Grant
 - Partial tuition awards are presented to reduce student loan debt.
- Stipend Grant assists with monthly living expenses, covers:
 - Rent: WFG pays maximum of $555 per month; lease cannot exceed $650.
 - Childcare: WFG pays maximum of $650 per month for certified or licensed childcare providers.
 - Food: Gift cards are purchased from local grocers based on participants' preferences, such as Festival Foods, Pick 'n Save, Piggly Wiggly and Wal-Mart. Card amount is based upon number of children in the household.
- Support Services
 - Services available to WFG students include mentoring, counseling, career assessments, academic planning, budgeting, life skills workshops, social events and employment preparation

Working Families Grant (WFG) Program Common Facts, Questions & Answers

Question: What's expected of participants in the Working Families Grant program?

Answer: There are five basic categories of participant expectations:

- Academic
- Community Service
- Monthly Reporting
- Student Development
- Appropriate Conduct

Question: What are the academic requirements?

Answer: You must be committed to maintain full-time status, which is a minimum of 12 credits. However, WFG expects participants to average 14-16 credits per semester and requires that a minimum of 32 credits be completed annually. WFG requires participants to establish a four-year graduation plan and follow it closely.

Question: What if I drop a class I'm doing poorly in? Am I disqualified from WFG?

Answer: You will be expected to keep the Program Director informed each month of your academic standing, especially if you are struggling in a class. WFG will refer participants to support services on campus to assist them in getting help (i.e. math and writing lab, tutoring, study skills development, etc.) in an effort to improve the grade if possible. Dropping a class is considered a last resort in the WFG program and must be approved by the WFG Director.

Question: What if I try hard, get help, but still fail a class?

Answer: Keeping in mind that WFG requires completion of 32 credits per year, WFG may cover the cost of up to 3 credits during Winterim session (a three-week session starting the first full week in January) and/or the cost of up to 6 credits during the summer session. With your advisor's assistance, we have found that by making slight scheduling changes in your four-year plan and adding a Winterim class, participants are able to stay on track and in compliance with WFG requirements.

Question: What is the minimum GPA required?

Answer: You must maintain the minimum GPA requirement for your major/minor. For example, if you are a nursing or education student, you must maintain the required cumulative GPA for that degree. It depends on your major/minor, however, a 2.5 GPA or higher is required to remain in the Working Families Grant Program.

Question: If I start out in nursing but later decide it's not for me, can I change majors?

Answer: A change in major almost always results in an extension of your graduation date, and that would present a certain problem for WFG. During your first semester you will be expected to complete an on-line career assessment (SII) and meet with the Career Services Coordinator in the Center for Academic Success and Excellence for an interpretation of the assessment results. You must have clear and specific career goals in order to graduate in four years. WFG expects participants to make informed decisions about their career goals and remain committed to them.

Question: What is the community service expectation?

Answer: Marian University is sponsored by the Congregation of Sisters of St. Agnes (CSA) who have laid a foundation of principles and core values at the University which are: community, learning, service, social justice, and spiritual traditions. Community service is highly valued by the sponsoring donors of WFG. Participants are expected to perform 20 hours of service each semester, which must be approved by the Program Director.

Question: Can I get credit for volunteer hours completed prior to participation?

Answer: Community service hours cannot be retroactive prior to acceptance into the WFG program. Additionally, ideas and actual involvement in community service events must be approved in advance by the Program Director to ensure appropriateness. Current participants have been involved in a large variety of volunteer and service experiences.

Question: How do I document community service?

Answer: Marian University participates has an on-line community service tracking program. Service hours are submitted electronically and the Program Director moderates the submissions making sure compliance is documented for each participant every semester that shows the dates, locations, and hours of community service performed.

Question: What is the monthly report requirement?

Answer: WFG participants are required to meet with the Program Director at least four times each semester to discuss academic standing, community service, and identify and address any needs or concerns as a parent and student. We recognize that many factors play into the success and failure of a single parent student trying to complete their first bachelor's degree. We value support services on campus and in the community, which is why mentoring is an important aspect of WFG. Our administrative team is made up of key Marian staff, a liaison in each of these areas: admissions, financial aid, academic advising, and personal counseling.

Question: Sometimes I feel overwhelmed juggling my responsibilities as a parent, at work, and school. Is it true that you offer professional counseling services?

Answer: Marian University's personal counselors are excellent professional counselors located in Regina Hall. Additionally, one counselor has been hired by WFG specifically to counsel and address the emotional, physical, and spiritual well-being of participants and their children.

Question: What are the expectations regarding student development?

Answer: WFG participants are required to meet with the personal counselor twice each semester. A home visit is scheduled once during the academic year, or within 30 days after moving into a new apartment, if WFG provides a rent stipend. Personal counseling has proven to be invaluable in helping participants deal with a wide range of concerns and challenges.

Question: Can WFG help me with some legal issues and costs that I'm dealing with?

Answer: WFG will not pay for legal fees, but has invited legal speakers to come on campus and share their expertise with single parents who have specific challenges and questions. WFG hopes to continue to sponsor such events each year.

Question: Can WFG help me with finances and personal budgeting?

Answer: There has been a growing interest with WFG participants to get help with budgeting skills. WFG has offered a variety of budgeting workshops in the past and has invited guest speakers to address finances and budgeting. We require each participant to establish a budgeting plan using services provided by Consumer Credit Counseling Service.

Question: Does WFG cover the entire tuition amount?

Answer: WFG will pay a partial tuition stipend. To discourage undue preference, WFG participants are required to apply for typical Federal and State grants and loans (FAFSA and Marian University supplemental form). The Independent Student Financial Aid formula is used to calculate the WFG tuition award.

Question: Can I apply for other scholarships if I am accepted into the WFG program?

Answer: Yes and no. Being a participant in WFG does not exclude you from being able to apply for other grants or scholarships, such as the Talent Incentive Grant or Divisional Merit Scholarship. We encourage WFG participants to apply for outside scholarships, and there are many sponsored by diverse organizations in our community. However, Marian University is committed to providing educational opportunities to as many students as possible, so WFG participants are not allowed to also receive any of the following specific Marian University scholarships or awards:

1. Academic Achievement Award (AAA)
2. Presidential Scholarship
3. Trustee Scholarship
4. Naber Scholarship
5. Sister Mary Sheila Burns Award

Question: Can WFG help me in a financial crisis? Like with my car?

Answer: Although WFG is somewhat restricted to specific kinds of assistance (tuition, rent, childcare, and food) participants may be eligible for additional assistance. Participants are referred to other community programs and resources. In a financial crisis, discretionary funds may be used as determined by the program director.

Question: Is it true that WFG has a stipend award that covers rent, childcare and food?

Answer: Yes. WFG does pay participant expenses for rent, childcare, and a food gift card. These payments are made directly to the provider. Rent and food are covered 12 months a year, while childcare is paid during scheduled class time, as well as when students are completing internships and clinicals.

Question: If I am currently getting HUD assistance, do I have to move or terminate it?

Answer: You can continue to live where you are and continue to receive assistance through HUD. WFG participants are required to provide a copy of their financial aid award letter to HUD to update their records and to determine if there is a change in the rent amount. For those receiving housing assistance, WFG will pay for their portion that is due, as long as the HUD lease does not exceed $650.

Question: What is the maximum rent amount covered by WFG each month?

Answer: The maximum lease amount honored by WFG is $650, but only a maximum of $555 will be paid by WFG, as long as the participant can pay the difference out-of-pocket expense.

Question: What if I receive notice of a rent increase, will WFG help with that?

Answer: WFG has a rental form that must be completed by your landlord. It states that we respectfully request the rent remain constant during the participant's educational period. The participant will be responsible for amounts that exceed $555. We encourage participants to find a safe environment that is economical, and remain in that location for the duration of their education if possible.

Question: Will WFG pay for a shared rental situation if I want to have a roommate?

Answer: WFG will confirm with the landlord that the WFG participant is the only adult name on the rental contract. Should you decide to share your home or apartment with another adult, WFG will not pay for rent. WFG must be notified if you currently or plan to have another adult share your rental situation. This type of change will not adversely affect participation in the program, unless WFG is not informed of this circumstance in advance. If WFG were to become aware that a change had occurred without notification, participation in the program would most certainly be jeopardized.

Question: Do I have to use the Marian University Child Care Center for childcare services?

Answer: Students that have 3 or 4 year olds may use the childcare center on campus if they so choose. For younger and/or older children, WFG will pay only for licensed and certified providers. Please check with the program director if you have any questions.

Question: What is the maximum childcare amount covered by WFG?

Answer: $650 per month. WFG will cover childcare expenses for before and after school, transportation, and daycare services. Childcare is covered by WFG only while the participant is enrolled in the University, during class time or educational related activities.

Question: What is the payment schedule for childcare providers?

Answer: There are typically two payment options a childcare provider can choose from. The first option is every two weeks while the second option once at the end of each month, which is typical for most providers. At this time, WFG does not issue payments on a weekly basis.

Question: What is the food gift card?

Answer: Each month food gift cards are purchased from local grocers such as Piggly Wiggly, Festival Foods, Wal-Mart and Pick n Save. The amount of the card is based on the number of dependent children in the household (1/$200, 2/$250, 3/$300, 4 or more/$350). The food card is distributed when the participant meets with the Program Director to review the monthly report and WFG requirements have been met. WFG is not responsible for replacement of lost or stolen food cards.

Question: What is the role of the administrative team?

Answer: The primary objective of the administrative team is to mentor participants and maximize program resources and support services to assist participants in obtaining their first bachelor's degree. Our goal is to develop a partnership philosophy, to swiftly identify barriers to success, and overcome them so that single parents can pursue their academic goals.
